VOLUME II, NUMBER 22 THE GOLD CENTER NEVADA CITY, NEVADA COUNTY, CALIFORNIA, THE COUNTY SEAT PAPER APRIL 16, 1928

BRUSH CREEK CUTS INTO PAY SHOOT

Croscutting and drifting operations are in progress at the Brush Creek mine where the rich ore shoot uncovered last summer has been picked up in the new workings 75 feet deeper.

The drift had been run 75 feet from the shaft before the shoot was picked up. There is already 16 feet of quartz in sight as far as the crosscut has been run. The ore pans free gold and while not as heavily mineralized as on the upper workings looks like fine milling rock and as soon as sufficient ore has been blocked out, the stamps will start dropping again, the mill having been closed down while the shaft sinking operations were being carried on.

The recent high water made things look desperate for a while to keep the new workings from filling up with water. The crew kept the upper hand however.

President Ben F. Ballard of the Kate Hardy company which has the Brush Creek mine under bond has been at the property for some weeks

GOLDEN CENTER GETS STOCK PERMIT

The Golden Center Mining Company of Grass Valley has been granted permission by the state Corporation Department to sell 125,000 shares of stock at $1.00 per share for development purposes.

It will be good news indeed to the people of this vicinity to know that this promising property is again to be in the list of producers. Mr. C. A. Brockington, who started the property originally, is again actively engaged in promoting the property, with which he is intimately familiar.

The Golden Center Company owns the Rock Roche, Peabody and Cabin Flat patents and some 346 lots in Grass Valley Townsite, the whole having an area of about 138 acres.

The following veins are within the property: The Hill vein, which has produced ore yielding $400 per ton at Selbys, the Golden Center vein, Dromedary, Whiskey, which should certainly be a good vein, Garage, Spencer, Sleep and Churchill. All of these veins have been exposed in cross cuts driven on the 500 level, the face of which is 1700 feet from the shaft. The shaft is 1100 feet deep and 11,500 feet of drifting has been done from it.

The old Peabody claim was last opened by Alf Tregidgo in 1896 and has produced some very rich specimen ore. The ledge has been followed down to the 400 level and has paid fabulously, as high as $7000 having been taken from 80 pounds of ore. The ore in the ledge, aside from the specimens, averaged $31 per ton.

The Garage vein was uncovered by A. B. Snyder while excavating for a large gasoline tank in the building of his garage on Mill Street at a depth of six feet. Mr. Snyder forgot the garage business temporarily, installed a windlass and proceeded to sink a shaft on the vein which he continued to a depth of about 60 feet when water became a source of trouble. Some beautiful specimens were taken out and the vein generally gave returns of $137.50 per ton. The waste dirt taken from the shaft finally almost filled the large building and left but little room for autos forcing Mr. Snyder to disontinue operations.

The production of the Golden Center, as shown by Selby mint reports, from 1914 to 1923 was $403,683. The average value of the ore exposed in No. 6 level as shown by the assays is $34.42 per ton, and the development of No. 5 level gives postive evidence of a very rich ore body at points 205 feet vertically below the surface. Miners who worked at the bottom of the shaft report three feet of good milling ore.

There is a complete hoisting plant, machine shop and other equipment as well as a twenty stamp mill, all operated by electricity, and everything is in readiness for beginning operations on short notice.

BROWN AND LUISELLA ON HIGRADING CHARGE

That the state officials are still active in trying to ferret out the mystery of the highgrading of ore from the Sixteen to One property at Alleghany is seen in the grand jury investigation of gold bullion and ore which was turned in to the mint by Paul Brown and Al Luisella who have been operating the Mistletoe mine near Rough and Ready. The two had turned in $2000 worth at the mint when State Mineralogist L. L. Root held up the transaction and claimed that the bullion and ore did not in his opinion, come from the Mistletoe but the Sixteen to One. The case will be prosecuted in San Francisco, it was announced, and a grand jury there is looking into the matter.

Luisella and Brown were arranging for bail in Sheriff Carter's office Friday afternoon following their indictment by the grand jury.

They are represented by E. H. Armstrong as attorney.

HILLS BUYS OUT GRASS VALLEY ASSAY OFFICE

B. W. Hills who is an expert assayer and chemist has purchased the Gras Valley Asay Office from Schmidt & Williams and has taken charge. Mr. Hills has had a wide experience in a number of mining centers. New gas fired furnaces have been installed and a thoroughly modern plant will be operated. Mr. Hills graduated from Dalhousie, one of the best known engineering colleges in the east. Assays and tests for both mining and milling practice can be handled with facility including the latest practice in cyanidation and flotation processes.

RISING SUN MINE CUTS INTO THREE FOOT VEIN

The Rising Sun Mine, near Colfax has exposed a three foot vein of good milling ore on the main vein which has recently been cut by the new drain tunnel from Bear River. The vein at this point is about 50 feet west of the end of the 600 level and some 30 feet vertically above it. As soon as the adit level has been driven to a point over this level efforts will be made to tap the water with a large winze into the roof of the 600. There is about 330 feet of water standing in the mine vertically above this point and some difficulty may be encountered in tapping this water under such great pressure.

OXFORD MING IS BEING OPENED BY DARNELLE

DOWNIEVILLE, April 14 (Special to The Nugget)—Jack Darnelle has a crew of miners at work in the Good Hope tunnel on the Oxford ground. Mr. Darnelle plans to extend the crosscut to the footwall of the vein. The new work has progressed about 70 feet.

The Oxford mine has been idle for several years, since a Utah company operated it during the war. A great deal of rich ore was taken out on the surface by former operators, and Mr. Darnelle plans to extend the lower tunnel to a point under the shoot, affording unusually great backs. Wm. Lloyd and G. Ariola are working underground.

CITY AUTO PARK MAY BE TAKEN OVER BY LADIES

The matter of the disposal of the city auto park on the Pacific Gas and Electric property on Coyote stret was taken up at the meeting of the Chamber of Commerce on Tuesday and it was the concensus of opinion that if the new Women's Civic Improvement Club wanted to take the project over and convert it into a children's playground and recreation center, that they might take it over. The Chamber has several thousand dollars tied up in improvements, but the cost of keeping the park open for the auto tourists has saddled a heavy expense on the Chamber treasury the past year and there is the feeling that the money can be better put to other uses.

The mayor made a fitting response and shook hands around.

MURCHIE, SEAMAN AND ARMSTRONG ELECTED

As soon as the votes have been officially tallied and the successful candidates are sworn in, C. R. Murchie, Al Seaman and Wade Armstrong will take their places as members of the board of city trustees for the full four year term.

In the balloting Monday Mr. Murchie led the field almost all the way during the counting after the polls had been closed, and at the finale he led the field with 20 votes to spare. Al Seaman and Wade Armstrong kept close together throughout the count and were but two votes apart, 175 and 173 when the end was reached. Benj. Hall wound up in fourth place with 152, James Penrose came fifth with 96, A. H Haddy polled 62 and L. W. Kopp 42. There were 315 ballots cast out of a registration of 420.

The proposal to put the trustees on a pay basis mustered 50 votes while the opposition counted 202. The plan was advanced in the first place to create interest in the election and it apparently served its purpose for it was one of the largest city elections in a number of years.

The new incumbents have been somewhat bashful about exploiting their views on how the city ought to be run until after they get the hang of the ropes a little. The swimming pool issue is slated for early settlement and several other matters have been discust relating to the conduct of the city's business.

PACIFIC GAS WILL MAKE MANY IMPROVEMENTS

The Pacific Gas and Electric Company, according to announcement received by L. H. Hartsock, District Manager of the Company, has approved orders for the expenditure of $14,200.00 at Grass Valley.

It is planned to install a 10,000 cubic foot gas holder with inlet and outlet piping and the necessary apparatus for the operation of this additional storage capacity. At the plant purifiers several buildings will will be removed to provide space for the new container.

The addition to the local plant is made in order to provide more storage capacity and to take care of the increasing demands for gas in Grass Valley and Nevada City.

A horseshoe was presented to the winning Natives.

TURPENTINE HAS FINE PROMISE OF INDUSTRY HERE

In one of the finest attended meetings in the history of the Nevada City Chamber of Commerce which was held Tuesday evening, that body decided to get back of the movement to establish a Pine Products factory here. The fact that there was no stock selling or bonus plan for the business men to nibble at made the proposition a thoroughly attractive one. Mr. F. C. Ernst who is here in behalf of large manufacturing interests who desire to establish such a plant where there is an unlimited supply of the raw product and an ideal climate for its extraction, told of what has been accomplished in putting the turpentine industry on a more stable basis with regard to the after effects on the trees.

Mr. Ernst explained that under the old system followed particularly in Georgia that whole forests of trees had been killed by the operations and he explained why. Under the new tree-saving system; much less gum is extracted and there is a rest period one year in five to let the tree recuperate. Furthermore his company is willing to guarantee that any tree damaged will be paid for. Where the owner of the trees expects to cut them for timber or wood the gum can be extracted at a heavier rate for several years and this makes double profit for the owner. The plan is to sign up sufficient acreage to insure from one million trees up to provide gum for the refinery which in this climate could be operated eight to ten months of the year and would give employment for from 150 to 200 men. The company has two modes of procedure under whichto operate—one is to lease the acreage outright and do all its own work, the owner having nothing to do but collect the paychecks Under the other the company agrees to buy all the gum that any tract will produce, furnishing the necessary tools and containers and will pick up the gum every three weeks. Advance payments are made on contracts which is an interesting feature.

Mr. Ernst had his working tools with him and explained their various uses and a number of questions were asked. It appears that the despised digger pine is a good source of supply which will be of interest to a number of timber owners.

After the talk, President Bennetts apointed a committee headed by State Forest Ranger Will F. Sharpe to work with Mr. Ernst in securing the required acreage so that the project may be an assured success.

DON'T LET THIS HAPPEN TO YOU

A woman who was too economical to subscribe for her home town paper sent her little son to borrow the copy taken by the neighbor. In his haste the boy ran over a four-dollar stand of bees and in ten minutes looked like a warty squash. His cries reached his father, who ran to his assistance, and failing to notice a barbed wire fence ran into it, breaking it down, cutting a handful of flesh from his anatomy and ruining a five-dollar paid of pants. The old cow, taking advantage of the gap in the fence got into the cornfield and killed herself eating corn. Hearing the racket, the mother ran, upset a four-gallon churn of rich cream into a basket of kittens, drowning the whole litter. In her hurry she dropped and broke, past all hope of mending, a twenty-five dollar set of false teeth. The baby left alone, crawled through the spilt cream and into the parlor, ruining a twenty dollar rug. During the excitement the eldest daughter ran away with the hired man, the dog broke up eleven setting hens, and the calves chewed the tails off of four fine shirts. All to save $2.00

NOW FOR EFFECTIVE TEAM WORK

NOW THAT THE ELECTION is safely over and things can once more resume their wonted mien, we can look forward with confidence to the future of our municipal affairs in the hands of three such estimable citizens as have been selected to serve the muncipality. Messrs. Murchie, Seaman and Armstrong are the type of men who may safely be counted on to give of their best to the cause of good government. With the holdovers, Mayor Holmes and Bennetts, Nevada City is fortunate in her governing body. It is stated that one of the matters to engross the board at an early date is a successful conclusion to the swimming pool controversy which has already cost the taxpayers a tidy sum in taxes and nothing attained beyond paying interest on the bonds. Unless some solution can be arrived at that will prove acceptable to the people of the community, it is the opinion of The Nugget that the money should by vote of the people be put to other uses where the present generation may reap some of the benefits. The two straw ballots showed that those people who were willing to express themselves, were overwhelmingly opposed to the money being spent on the burned area. The opponents of the Park Avenue site point out that no satisfactory plan of providing for the cost of upkeep has been provided for, as straight maintenance would place a heavy burden on the taxpayers.

AT THIS JUNCTURE, this paper wishes to propose that if no satisfactory solution can be reached with regard to the swimming pool, that the funds be expended on bettering the water system and put it on a larger revenue production basis. On the present flat rate basis the small user is penalized in favor of the large consumer which a metering system would readily correct as everyone then would pay for what they used and no more. The people at an election can by their vote divert the funds to other uses without further ado. During the next few weeks, The Nugget would like to receive contributions on the subject for publication. It is asked that contributors do not make their remarks too extensive that they may be kept within the bounds of reasonable space.

NEVADA CITY IS INDEED fortunate to have at the head of its chamber of commerce such a man as R. J. Bennetts. He sold out his drug business several years ago and retired to enjoy life. About a year ago his fellow members of the civic boost body felt he was just the man for president and so the honor fell on his shoulders. Mr. Bennetts carries himself with a natural dignity that is well becoming a presiding officer and yet he has never lost the "common touch" as Kipling so aptly puts it. Whenever a fellow citizen desires a hearing of the board of trustees of which he is a member or a favor from the chamber of commerce they can always go to "Dick" Bennetts and they are always received with courtesy and understanding and if he believes in the project he will champion it regardless of the opinion of the other members. Just across from the rear of the beautiful Bennetts home with its well kept grounds was a disreputable looking lot, formerly the dumping ground of a foundry. It was a sad tangle of rusty iron, brush and weeds It was an eyesore and furthermore it was on the Downieville Highway approach to town. The lot was in such a terrible condition that only a man with vision could see any possibilities in it. However Mr. Bennetts was a man of vision and he purchased the lot. The first thing to do was to clean up the trash and this proved considerable of a task, at which Mr. Bennetts did not feel above doing some of the actual work of clearing. When the clearing was completed, the lot was fenced with wire and an attractive arbor built over the gateway. Red climbing roses have been planted along the fence. When it came to the landscape gardening, he called in expert advice As yet the park is in an immature state as there are many ideas to be carried out later. The park is to be for public use so its purpose is twofold and it will provide a beautiful entrance to the city. The site was offered to the city for the municipal swimming pool but the offer was not accepted. Besides being a city trustee and head of the Chamber, Mr. Bennetts is a member of the school board and vice president of the Nevada County Golf Association. For all these official positions his remuneration is nil and all the time he spends on public work if placed on a salary basis would bring high remuneration. During the past year he has devoted a great deal of time as President of the Yuba Pass All Year Highway Association to exploiting this route of travel over the Sierra. May his willingness to serve be a shining example to others. AAW

UNITED SECURITY WILL USE THE NEWSPAPERS

SAN FRANCISCO, APRIL 3.—Newspapers head the list of advertising media to be used by the United Security Bank and Trust Company, which has just released a hundred day program of advertising to reach into every community in California where it operates a direct branch.

"The executive committee has approved plans to use newspapers as our chief media at all times" said W. F. Duffy, Executive Vice-President of the United Security Bank and Trust Company. "The results of long experience in bank advertising work have convinced us that newspapers, constantly used with constructive and carefully prepared advertisements should be the major medium for building our bank."

NEIGHBORHOOD NEWS OF INTEREST

O'CONNOR FAMILY HAS EASTER FAMILY REUNION

(FRENCH CORRAL, Apr. 14.—(Special to The Nugget)—Well, our lenten season is over and our glorious Easter passed, and we seem to have launched into a new era. Easter passed very quietly in our little burg as we have not the advantage of many church services. But we can pray at any time, and in any place, and feel that we are joining in praise with the multitude. Easter is always a happy day for our little children, for the "bunnies" never slght French Corral and always leave the pretty eggs to be found on Easter morn.

On Easter Sunday there was a very happy gathering in the O'Conner family of Birchville. The brothers and sisters and relatives and friends, in all numbering twenty, sat down to a sumptuous Easter dinner. The rooms were beautifully decorated for the occasion, and each guest was given a basket of Easter eggs. Altogether it was a very happy re-union.

Miss Martha O'Conner, who teaches at North Bloomfield, was home, also Miss Theresa O'Conner, who teaches at Rough and Ready. Raymond O'Conner of Nevada City, and Arthur O'Conner, who is principal of a school in San Rafael. Arthur will remain for a short vacation with his family.

Speaking of the O'Connor family reminds us of our friends Mr. and Mrs. Fred Conner of Sacramento, who are our neighbors part of the year as they have a summer home in Sweetland. But we recently learned that they suffered very serious damage, during the late severe storm, which caused a portion of Sacramento to be flooded. Their many friends are sorry to know of their losses.

Miss Adelaide Cohn, who formerly taught school at French Corral, visited with friends here on Saturday. Miss Cohn is at present on the staff of City teachers at Sacramento.

Ray McCulloguh of San Juan was a Sunday visitor.

Mr. Harris of San Juan visited French Corral Sunday.

Miss Lucille Fogarty of San Juan spent Sunday with the Misses Moulton of this place.

A crew of men from San Juan and French Corral were busy Monday and Tuesday repairing damage done by the late storm. They were working near the Ray ranch.

The crew of men who were working on Pine Grove reservoir completed their work Wednesday.

Charlie Ting, a Chinese vegetable dealer from Nevada City, paid the San Juan Ridge a visit Tuesday. We were glad to get fresh vegetables as at this time of the year we have to send away for them. We could not help contrasting Charlie with his auto truck load of vegetables, with the Chinese peddler of fifty years ago. Then he was called "John Chinaman" and brought his goods in large baskets, hung at either end of a long pole which he carried across his shoulders. My, but poor "John" was persecuted by the small boy who would impudently pull his queue, and steal his vegetables, yes, and even throw rocks at him! In this "Mr. Small boy" was not always discouraged by his elders, for they were peeved at poor "John" as he had displaced them in earning their daily bread. Mining companies wanted cheap labor and employed Chinese to work their mines. This at one time led to a riot in French Corral. But it really was a peaceable riot (paradoxical, etc.,) for the men, headed by the San Juan brass band formed in procession and marched to every China camp and ordered "John Chinamman" to leave, and "John" meekly obeyed. Of course all who took part in the "riot" were arrested and fined, and etc. The mining superintendent was very angry and said he "would make the grass grow in front of the white men's door." He did it. This was the first break in the prosperity of French Corral.

Mr. E. Sutherland left for Woodland last night, where he was called by phone to be at the bedside of his wife, who had undergone an operation at the Woodland clinic. W. E. Moulton and daughter, Louise, went to Nevada City with Mr. Sutherland.

J. W. Culver and son, Will, went to Tyler yesterday to visit relatives.

A gentle rain set in last night. Rain is needed after a few days of north wind.

The experience of centuries has proven that no woman is strong enough to carry the weight of all her friends' and neighbors' faults and her own too. Still many of them are continually trying it.

DOWNIEVILLE TAKES THE SCALP OF ALLEGANY

DOWNIEVILLE, April 14 (Special to The Nugget.—In the first baseball game of the season played at the Kerfoot frield at thisplace Sunday, Downieville took Alleghany into camp to the tune of 22 to 4.

L. Nessler and R. Daneri pitched for the locals while R. Gardner and J. Gardner served 'em up for the Miners.

The big field on the Kerfoot ranch about a mile east of town has been put into shape by the local fans and the Plaza in Downieville where the games have been previously played has been abandoned. The Downieville boys laim that the narrow limits of the old ball ground cramped their style and they prophesy a different brand of ball this season. Plans are being made for a busy ball season for 1928, and the local team has the hearty backing of the business men. P. W. Smith has again been named manger and Herman Stark, captain of the nine.

MRS. D. F. TRUSSEL PASSES AWAY AT SACRAMENTO

(Special from Downieville)

Mrs. D. F. Trussel, who was rushed from Downieville to Sacramento last week, following a serious illness, died in a hospital there in that city Sunday. Mrs. Trusel, nee Blanch Holbrook was well known here and was spending a vacation with friends at the time of her illness. Deceased was a native of Indiana and the body was taken to Longasport for burial. Mrs .Trussel is survived by her husband of Berkeley.

A BIT OF HISTORY

Historian's sometimes, are irritating people: they mark this year or that as a notable event because such and such a battle was fought that year, or some half-forgotten King came to the throne—when as a matter of fact, what interests us most, is how people lived, what they bought, the prices they paid for things, and so on—facts, in other words, that you and I have to face today.

It is as trues now as it was in the past, that your reliable local merchants areimportantfactors in the community, making for stability and progress. Every dollar spent here helps this section. Dollars spent elsewhere build up other sections.

AN APPEAL TO REASON

(Contributed by W. H. "Doc" McCoy, Grass Valley)

There is about the subject of disease an amazing amount of ignorance, not alone among the laiety, but in the ranks of the recognized practitioners of medicine.

Each year the medical journals are full to overflowing with learned discussions of this or that phase of disease; the lay journals are burdened with a less technical discussion of every disorder, each friter attempting to point out something that looks toward a solution of the difficulty from which the world is suffering—this sick old world.

When it is boiled down, when we have summed up all the findings of any value during the whole year, it is not very largely rehash of the same old ineffable fudge that we have been mauling over for centuries?

Are we sure that we understand what disease really is? Are we able to explain why some people succumb to infections, to the activity of germs, while others exposed to the very same sources of infection are apparently immune?

We are, we must be, on the wrong track, and disease must surely be something we think it is not, it must not be something that we think it is, else we could not continue permanently to fall short of even apparent success in our application of the knowledge we have amassed in the past centuries.

Let us look at the disease from another angle, let us merely regard it as an absence of health, cause to regard any so-called disease as a distinct entity, and focus the attention more on the requirements of health, or our requirement for keeping well and healthy.

Now, in fact, disease is nothing, really nothing, just as darkness is nothing, merely an absence of health in some degree, just as darkness is an absence of light.

In the light of fifteen years of active clinical experience the writer has run against nothing like this disproof of the firm belief that disease is best described and considered as a non-entity, a mere absence of health in some degree is best described and considered as a non-entity, a mere absence of health in some degree, and that the obstacles to perfect functioning, perfect health, are all removable, if time, opportunity and desire remain.

Each disease, each virdent train of symptoms is merely the effort, the visible effort of nature to rid the system of undesirable wastes, encumbrances, contaminations, and these evidences, which we dignify with the name of a distinct disease, should be encouraged, assisted, thus working in line with nature's own indications, not against them.

From this angle then, disease is not a misfortune, not even an accident, but a convulsion of the forces of nature in an effort to clean house, an effort compelled by the increasing auto-intoxication of the body, in the presence of which normal function could not proceed.

How we quarrel over the names of these supposed diseases, and how every little difference is held up as an indication of the correctness of our own individual conception of this wholly negative thing we call disease!

Diagnosis is of so little importtance that Sir James MacKenzie, supposed to be the most accurate, painstaking and conscientious diagnostician in the whole world, says that with all his expert assistance, equipped with the most wonderful array of laboratory aids and instruments of precision collected in one hospital anywhere in this world, he is not able to say with any degree of certainty what really ails the case "in 90 per cent of the cases treated there."

Of course they can call a headache a headache, a pain a pain constipation constipation, etc., but really to say why the patient is sick is not possible in more than 10 per cent of the cases treated.

So why quibble so much about the name of the disease when as good a man as Sir James says you cannot have better than one chance in ten of guessing it right in any case? Let us devote less time to the study of disease and more to the study of health, recognizing the symptoms of so-called disease as nature's indications that a condition is developing that is interefering with easy and peaceful function, and let us learn how best to remove these obstacles and how to keep them continually removed.

In approaching so-called disease from this standpoint we are constrained to regard ourselves as mere assistants to nature, doing what is apparent to us as work that will lessen the difficulties in the way of a return to natural conditions, using the purge just as nature creates a diarrhoea, the sweat in imitation of nature's plan of unloading through the skin wastes that can find their way out through this channel alone, using fresh air and sunshine as the great aids to the function of both lungs and skin and using mineral water, as the great solvent supplied so lavishly in nature to assist the kidney's and skin in doing their work of unloading the waste whose accumulation is interfering with noraml function.

All that we can do in the way of assisting nature will be directed toward these four avenues of elimination and these are, in the order of their importance: The lungs, the skin, the kidneys, and the bowels. Treatment should be more and more prophylactic, preventive, rather than curative, for we can do so little toward a cure, and nature so much that it behooves us to devote more time to a study of how not to interfere with nature's processes, and then we will have nothing more to cure.

PROPOSED NEVADA IRRIGATION BOND ISSUE

As another N. I. D. bond issue is apparently immenent it is quite pertinent to inquire whether the California Irrigation Law is unconstitutional, with respect to the qualifications required to be an elector. The law is quite unjust by disinfranchising landowners who are vitally interested in the result of an election, and enfranchising others who have no interest in it, except as a matter of opinion. The principal of Universal Manhood (or Womanhood) Suffrage may be unassailable in any political organization—Federal, State, County or City— because any of these can enact laws or ordinances which may affect every citizen living within the area of organization, whether he owns any property (real or personal) or not. But on the other hand, an Irrigation District is a purely economic organization, and through its duly elected directors can make no laws, but only levy assessments on the landowners. So that any citizen who happens to reside within the area of the District, but has only a quite impersonal interest in the matter, may cast the decisive vote giving the directors authority to levy on landowners, and collect, a tax to which he does not contribute one cent. This may be law, but it is not justice.

One of the 30,000 California women who cook with electricity

The morning shower refreshed the air. Warm sunshine has dried the grass. It is an afternoon to be outside.

Friends are coming for dinner—four people beside the family! And this woman is spending the afternoon in her garden.

She uses an electric range. The whole dinner was placed in the oven at one o'clock. At four, the electricity turned on and started the meal cooking. A Temperature Control keeps the oven at the proper temperature. At six, the current will turn off. The insulated oven will keep the meal warm until dinner is served.

That is the freedom you'll enjoy with electric cooking.

Why don't you eliminate the monotony of preparing meals by using an electric range? You can see them at our office.

THE NUGGET PAGE OF MINING NEWS

GUGGENHEIM SAYS THAT COPPER AGE IS COMING

There is good news for Nevada county in a dispatch from New York published in the San Francisco Examiner. Samuel Guggenheim one of the big men of the mining world says:

"The business outlook," Guggenheim declared, "is satisfactory. There has been a distinct improvement in sentiment in the last thirty days.

"Of course, until the outcome of the presidential election has been discounted, there will be some disposition to postpone the launching of new activities.

"Our business is currently running about as it did last year. There is at the moment a pickup in the European demand for zinc and lead. Lead is quoted lower than a year ago, but I think it is at the bottom.

"There is no accumulation of copper stocks, in accordance with the policy of the industry to produce in accordance with the trend of demand."

Referring to the company's venture in developing the Buchans mine in Newfoundland, in partnership with British interests, Guggenheim observed: "We have reached a new phase of the mining industry. Metallurgical improvements make it possible to work complex low grade ore which a few years ago was considered uneconomic.

"The present trend is away from the discovery of entirely unknown properties and in the direction of bringing into production these low grade mines.

"New properties are not found so rapidly as when we started in business forty years ago.

"What the public does not understand is that one does not begin profitably to take metal from new mines immediately. It takes two or three years of development work to get to that stage.

"There is also a new phase in the smelting and of the business, where as in general industry labor saving mahinery and heightened efficiency, reduced costs and made it possible to treat low grade ore more cheaply, and thus make it economic to mine such metal.

"America is singularly inventive, restless and ambitious. Americans are always looking for new and better methods. They are willing to venture and are willing to scrap good plants when they become obsolete.

"Rich men don't work to accumulate more money. They stay on the job because they want to get ahead, to make progress. They want to do something constructive, to build up the country, and only incidentally further enrich themselves.

"Work is a habit for them after they have accumulated enough to be very comfortable after retiring. The masses don't understand that viewpoint."

Guggenheim is a short, brown-eyed individual of 60, with iron gray hair and mustache, a forceful figure who always has his feet on the ground.

His chief fun is business, but he believes every man, after 40, should have a hobby—to avoid becoming set and grouchy.

His own hobbies are travel, the acquisition of the fine painting of the old masters, and gold.

His aim, he said, is to radiate happiness. He is active in philanthropy.

As for the longer term future, Guggenheim makes this prophecy:

"We are approaching a copper age. It is only a matter of years before the old world will begin to adopt the material bases of prosperity, which have been so successfully employed in this country.

"Economically we are the greatest country in the world, but we should not boast about it. God has been bountiful in providing us with natural resources.

"As soon as Europe gets the money, it will be in the market on a larger scale for many things."

TRUTH IN JOURNALISM

An editor narrowly escaped serious injury when the letter "e" was omitted from a word in an obituary concerning a woman who was rather tall and not very plump. The writer said, "Lord, she was Thine," but the printer, who possibly was acquainted with the woman, set it, "Lord, she was thin."—The United States Publisher.

Why is it that the weight of a woman's first baking is equal to twice the ingredients?

The greatest faith any Nevada City woman can show her husband is to sit quietly in the back seat and let him do the driving.

LARGEST SILICA DEPOSIT REPORTED EL DORADO

The largest silica deposit in the state comprising 95 acres with an estimated silica tonnage of between 500,000 and 1,000,000 tons, situated about four miles from Placerville on the Diamond Springs road has been purchased by the Spicky Polish Corporation of San Francisco.

The property was owned by Jacob Snow, of Diamond Springs, and had been operated by the Spicky concern since last September under lease. The consideration was not announced although it is understood to have been a substantial amount.

It was announced by Perry Small, president of the concern, who was in Placerville recently with Sumner S. Smith, mining engineer, to arrange the transaction, that as soon as weather clears, operations will be started at the rate of excavating 4.000 tons a year and that this total will be increased as business warrants.

Silica, it was explained, is a principal ingredient in the manufacture of polish and also is sold for use in brick factories, steel and iron foundries and for use in the manufacture of composition flooring and roofing materials.

The company has a 350 ton loading bin in Placerville and a 150 ton bin at the Snow property.—Mountain Democrat.

CREDIT GIVEN DOWSING FOR BORAX DISCOVERY

Credit is given to W. M. Dowsing a cinnabar expert of Santa Monica, for the discovery and bringing in of the wonderful borax field east of Mojave, by the Nevada Mining Record, as follows:

The Pacific Coast Borax Company is indebted to Mr. Dowsing for possession of the great body of kernite between Muroc and Kramer on the Mojave desert that cinches the company's control of the borax industry. Mr. Dowsing associated with John L. Hannum, discovered the deposit in 1925 which they sold to the company in January, 1926.

This is the richest and most extensive deposit of borax in the world having a depth of 155 feet and extending over 960 acres. This kernite is so rich in boracic content that 100 pounds of the raw material produces 125 pounds of borax when mixed with hot water and re-crystallized. An idea of the commercial importance of the discovery may be gleaned from the knowledge that at Muroc it costs $4.50 per ton to produce borax while at Death Valley it is $22 per ton. The Death Valley operations were abandoned as the Muroc supply is far in excess of trade requirements.
